325 N. WELLS STREET | CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

STONE
REAL ESTATE

OFFERING SUMMARY

Stone Real Estate is pleased to exclusively market for sale or lease the commercial condominium property located at 325 North Wells St. in the heart of Chicago's vibrant River North neighborhood. The commercial condominium offering totals 31,757 across three levels (1st, 2nd, and Lower Level) and is five separate parcels (i.e. condos) ("Property") within an 11 story, ~ 160,000 sf. building. The majority of the remaining nine floors are owned by The Chicago School of Professional Psychology. The building was originally constructed in 1911 as the headquarters of Helene Curtis. It has undergone multiple major renovations since then with the most recent being in 2013 when it was converted to commercial condos. The property seamlessly blends historic architecture with modern functionality, offering flexible commercial space to a diverse tenant base.

The Property is currently ~60% leased with one vacancy (13,009 rsf). This is a unique opportunity for a user to acquire and occupy such space which has an exclusive outdoor patio on the Chicago River. There are three other leased spaces within the Property with longer remaining lease term which provides a buyer income to help offset expenses.

The Property is centrally located in downtown Chicago at the southern end of River North and across the Chicago River from the Central Business District (The Loop). River North is known for its diverse demographic mix of residential, office, restaurants and tourists. Its proximity to the Central Business District makes it a highly desirable area for business, residents, and visitors alike. It is easily accessible via public transportation and the major thoroughfares including the Kennedy / Dan Ryan Expressways and Lake Shore Drive.

325 N. WELLS STREET | CHICAGO, IL

LOCAL MARKET OVERVIEW

The River North neighborhood in Chicago is a vibrant area located just north of the Loop and along the Chicago River. It's known for its mix of historic buildings, modern skyscrapers, a thriving arts scene, and proximity to downtown. It's properties include a mix of residential, commercial, and cultural spaces. It offers both high-end living and office space, thriving restaurants, a vibrant arts scene, and easy access to everything downtown Chicago has to offer.

Retail and Dining: River North has a strong retail and dining scene, attracting both locals and tourists. The area boasts upscale boutiques, art galleries, and trendy restaurants. Popular destinations like The Magnificent Mile, which is nearby, help fuel foot traffic. Many restaurants and bars line the streets, especially on Hubbard Street and along the riverwalk.

Customer Profile: Resident, local Chicagoan, tourist, hotel guest and office worker.

The Riverwalk: The expansion of the Chicago Riverwalk has made River North even more desirable. It's a popular spot for outdoor activities, including dining at riverfront cafes and walking along the water. It's helped boost the area's appeal for both residents and businesses.

Arts & Culture: River North is known for its vital arts scene, home to numerous galleries, art events, and the Museum of Contemporary Art Chicago. The arts have played a key role in shaping the neighborhood's identity, attracting people with an interest in design and culture.

Office: River North is known for its vintage charm which continues to define its identity, attracting office tenants who value character and a distinctive neighborhood feel. It includes a mix of creative firms (advertising, tech, design) and larger companies. Many tenants favor River North for its superior transit connectivity, including the purple, brown, and red "L" lines and proximity to Ogilvie Transportation Center just south of the Chicago River. The area has seen more tech and startup companies setting up shop due to its proximity to the Loop and the availability of office spaces in a variety of sizes. The area also appeals to recent college graduates seeking to live and work nearby.

Transportation & Accessibility: River North is well-served by public transit, with several bus routes and the Brown, Purple, and Red Line CTA train lines providing quick access to downtown Chicago and other areas of the city. Many residents opt to walk or bike, as the neighborhood is pedestrian-friendly. Access to major highways like I-90/94 and I-290 is also convenient, making it easier for people who commute by car.

Residential: River North appeals especially to young professionals, urban buyers, and renters seeking city living with convenient access to transit and amenities. The neighborhood has many high-rise towers along or near the Chicago River and throughout River North, many with premium amenities like doormen, fitness centers, rooftop decks, and river views. Besides high-rises, there are mid-rise and low-rise condo buildings and occasional townhomes, offering varied price points and layouts. Single-family homes are rare in River North and often command high prices when available. River North has a legacy as a former industrial and warehouse district, so many older buildings have been converted into loft-style residences with large windows and open floor plans—appealing for those wanting character alongside urban living.
